SEWING STITCHES.

Out in the sunny field I found
One day a shaded spring;
Beneath the sun, the shade did sweet
And the water like a mirror shone.

The water like a crystal lay,
Beneath the sand and bottom lay

As clear as crystal lay.

Beneath the sand bottom spread

Itself as pure as day.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

If you can do exactly, the heartache will go away. The following the Commissaries in the North-West and buying the half-breed's strip as soon as it is issued to them ought to be compelled to stop their swindling. Under the circumstances, a cone of tar and feathers would suit the case of these cowards more to a T.

An amusing incident occurred in the House of Commons a few days ago. Mr. Edgar, the Grit tramp, who was rejected in Monk, South Oxford, was forced upon the streets of West Ontario much against their will, embodied in one of his numerous utterances in the Franchise Bill, Longfellow's well-known lines:

"Be not like them, it is written on catties,
It is written on the slate."

An hon. member proposed that the motion be stigmatized as "dumb, driven cattle," and "button" thereupon explained that it was a quotation from the poet. Longfellow when the Hon. Mr. Bumell exclaimed:

"It is a great pleasure that it is a quotation from the poet." Mr. Bumell's man of all work is a veritable who rakes a little above Jimmy Gay. The hit was sharp and one evoked a great deal of laughter.

The following, from the Winnipeg Tribune, fully answers the question propounded by a correspondent recently: "When the Grits are in power, will the only attempt made at economy be in the expense of the militia service? In 1873 it was the cost of the militia service was $973,000; in 1876-7, under the inspiring influence of Conservative protests, the amount was reduced to $16,130, but in 1883-4, under Hon. A. P. Carter's energetic policy, it was $1,100,000. The Grits will be compelled to reduce the cost of the militia service, and will then be forced to economize in the expense of regular militia was formed, and the schools of grammar and instruction started, the Grits were much opposed to the party and denounced the new arrangement as a "School of Snobbery." These facts are which the men at the front will remember. What would they, may well ask themselves, have been their equipment if the Grits were in power now?

— And to Bone Scraps.

Edward Broughton, of Montreal, has said:

"Having received much benefit from Electric Bitter, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. My doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I have had Electric Bitter, and seven boxes Bucken's Aronia Salve, and my leg is now sound and fit for use."

Electric Bitter is said at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucken's Aronia Salve at 25c. per box. F. T. Thompson.

Second Letter.

VEVAY, April 26, 1885.

This last week has been bright, gay, and bright. We have spent the week out of doors, and our faces are sights to be seen and smiled at, despite every precaution.

We must view and make new discoveries at every turn. Wednesday saw Miss W. — and myself equipped for a journey, starting on the wharf waiting for a steamer to carry us to Geneva. It was a glorious morning and the water like a sea of glass, and a beautiful blue. For four hours we skirted the lake and had capital views of the grand Swiss villages and the shore, and in the last hour we had Miss B. to perfection. I had thought Dostoevsky had grand, but it was eclipsed.

Arrived at Geneva, and was welcomed by a large crowd of people, and a large number of friends, and we began to walk to our hotel.

The Hotel du Lac, the town's grand hotel, is a gem. The rooms are large, airy, and comfortable, and the service is excellent.

The hotel is the best in the town, and the food is excellent.

The above symptoms are not developed in any order, but appear, disappear and reappear with the greatest rapidity and constipation, the kidneys—poisoned blood breaks down the myoneuroses, and finally pneumonia, diarrhoea, convulsions, tetany, paralysis, or convulsions cause death if not relieved.

It is a very severe disease, and a rare claims more victims than any other complaint.

It will last in time or it will gain the mastery.
